THER AND NOW.

New York Press.—Mr. (Teveland's Hawailan Commissioner, Blount, declares that it is an important question whether we want any territory that it takes a steamer more than a week to reach. It would have taken Mr. Blount half a year to reach none sections of Loulaian territory when Thomas Jefferson bought it, and he would have hene sealped defore he had reached his destination.

Politide/pike. Timer.—Slowly, but noue the less surely, the spoils system of appointments must for not because public sentiment is changing, but hecause conditions are. A system that cannot be applied to a private business without the most disastrour results cannot be applied for any great length of time to the Government affairs of sixty-flow millions of people. Civil Service reform is making and will conduct to make steady pregress, not so much because the people are in love with it as because they can't get along without it.

The experiment of the elight bour day, or rather making forty eligh hours a week't work, is now helig tried in one of the largest from works in England, the Salford works at Salford, which is a sharbr of Manchester. The working hours at these works have heretoforeen fifty these per week and the reduction is made on an understanding with me men that the output of the works shall not be dimitished by the shortening of the hurs. The men are to be puncisal and energotic, and to save the owners from lose because of this shortening of hours, by greater ludustry. There is to be no reduction of wages and if the and of a year finds the experiment successful. the forty-eight hour week will be the permanent arrangement. The experiment of the eight-hour day,

The Atlanta Constitution reads Mr. Cloveland a sharp lecture for his inaugural romarks on Civil Service reform. The term 'spoil,' "it says," is employed to desorthe offices in the mass, but it is hardly to be supposed that the President intended to apply it Indiscriminately. The larger and more important offices—the 'plums,' as it were—can hardly come under the head of 'spoils' according to the interpretation of the Civil Service reformers. Common sense ought to come to the rescue of those who have been duzed or deceived by the fine spun theories of Civil Service reform. Why should a candidate for a high office be applicated as a patriot, while the applicant for a smaller piace is decounced as a spoilmann?" The Atlants Constitution should learn the Mugwump art of "ducti-cating" itself and not be so laquisitive.

MINTS GUTTED WITH SILVER.

Chicago Tribune.—The United States
Mint at Philadelphia now contains at the extraordinary amount of 110,000,000 ounces of bar silver, or sufficient for the coinage of 150,000,000 all colored silver. The vaults are full to overflowing and it has been necessary to have constructed a new steel-filed vault, which was completed about a week ago concess if piled full from floor to celling. As silver hullion is now being received there at the rate of 2,800,000 ounces been concessed in the silver hullion is now being received there at the rate of 2,800,000 ounces promoth this additional room will be filled which and the week the accessity of occupying still other room about the purchase of silver by the Government be constuned as at present. There is no more sense, reason or justice in buying up the product of the silver mines to be stored on Government account at Philadelphia and other points and the wheat farmers of the Weet their surplus produce and holding it like a root in terrorem over the heads of the trade, which always looks at the "visible suply" as an important element in the process of determining the price to be paid for an article.

Then our mode of doing business is a wonderful strong magnet. You are shown through the stock. You know just what price you or anyone else will pay for the goods; moreover with a guarantee that the price is lower than the same goods can be bought for in any house in the country. Furthermore, any article bought of us, large or small, that upon examination does not exactly please can be returned and the money will be refunded. We ask you squarely, isn't this a nice way of doing business? Of course it is; and you do not wonder at the fact that we have the trade of this neck of the woods.

We invite ALL to come in and be shown through our different departments.
